The SCARF suite of assessments and workshops are designed to transform the quality of thinking and performance amongst teams.

SCARF Self Assessment

This free online self assessment gives you insight into the five domains of the SCARF model, and indicates the importance each domain currently has in your life.

Understanding which of these five domains are key drivers for you increases self awareness as to why you (and others) behave as they do in certain social interactions. Knowing more about your own reactions leads to better self regulation and gives you more options when dealing with other people.
