

Executive Coach Training

Take your coaching to the executives and leaders in business

About this program

The program is hands on, practical and includes a range of detailed assessments and tools for working with high level executives in corporate.

Corporate culture, competing agendas, high stress levels and time-poor clients are just some of the elements you deal with as an executive coach.

Working with clients within complex organizational systems who are used to high impact, results-focused interventions requires strong coaching, robust reporting and effective measurement tools, and a high level of flexibility for dealing with intelligent, high performing individuals.

This program will help you manage and exceed client expectations, and set you up to succeed as a leading executive coach.
